JEFF WON'T TAKE ON O'BRIEN

President Eliot admits that his recommendation for the abolition of football for a year is only a private opinion. He stated last night that his attitude did not in any way represent the university officially, as he is not permitted to speak for it thus. He is a member of five official boards, who will have the final authority in this much mooted question, and of course exerts great weight in both. Still there has nothing

Heen decided yet, and his view in the letter to Chancellor McCracken was that the school should not be asked to make a decision until after the football season. McCracken says there is plenty of time to act on the football problem and that the corporation and executive committee take plenty of time before they express a final opinion.

The members of the athletic committee, who include the players and students, are out of Cambridge at present, and the effect of the latest action is delayed. Coach Keim refused to say what he did think.

It is safe to say, however, that the students will not greet their President's announcement with joy. The prospects for a good team in Fall 1935 are rather dim. The men who are on each member, they say. They also agree that the time to act on the football problem has already been made to reform it. If that fails, then it will be time to abolish the game.

"SAYS HIS RECORD SHOULD
BACK O'DRIEN

Sam for him to grab a piece of big money, that would be different. "I told O'Brien we could make $25,000," declared Willie Britt, after endorsing a $200 bet on a race at Harts Field. "I told him not to bet on it. I told him I didn't think it would be a piddling for him, either. Sam has everything going for him. He's got a lot of speed. He's faster on his feet, but Sam is quicker with his hands. He won't be able to keep up to Berger, jab him in the nose and get away without a return. Sam would stop him before he thinks of it."

O'Brien ought to give me the next time I see him," Willie said. "I don't think my record entitles me to a return match with him. I gave him a good one. I won't let him get away with it. I fought O'Brien in a standstill in Alaska have great confidence in my ability to beat O'Brien.

Zack Abrams, who still represents Jack Johnson on the Coast, declared that O'Brien had no right to draw the color line. Abrams said he would give Jack a $2,500 side bet, and let the winner take the chunk.

LEAFY: BOWLING.

In the weekly roll-off at the Old Colony alley, Purman won with 252. Davis was second with 200 and Millard, third, with 281.

At Davis and Nick Swartz are teaching the young ladies how to roll at the Old Colony alley. Both are past masters at the pin game and the fair ones are sure to understand the fine points fully before these "youngsters" are cooking them a mouth.

The weekly prize at the Prospect street alley, Cambridge, goes to Eugene J. Mason, with 96, and Brian with 97. Both the men are coming stars and will be heard from in the big leagues before many months.

Now that Jack Mahan has struck his proper gait in writing a hard and pungent book, "The Silvery Sea," about what is about nearly square a night at those West End beaches and it's seldom that comes off second best.

Wiles, the concerned roller at the Rexford alley, talks a very soft ball. It's not as speedy as that south beach ball, but it's a ball that matters the point wherever it strikes, so what is the difference.

NAPS WILL GET A GOOD START

Cleveland players have announced their intention of taking the baths at their own expense in an effort to bring the pennant to the Naps. These two men are Terry Turner, who starts on his fifth year, and "Bugs" Jackson.

There is some talk of Lapole taking the baths before going to Atlanta, where the Naps will take their preliminary training, but nothing definite is known.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Tom Sharkey, representing George Gardner, the Lowell scrapper, has issued a challenge to Philadelphia Jack O'Brien to fight any number of rounds at from 168 pounds up for him or a side bet of $5,000.

Sharkey will post the side bet as soon as O'Brien says the word.

Good Coffee A Nerve Food

Good Coffee possesses a direct beneficial action on the system. Just as well grown nutritious celery is said to supply the brain with phosphorus—food for the brain cells—while poorly grown celery has no such effect. So it is with good, well-cultivated, well-roasted coffee. Such coffee supplies the nerve centers with an element that leads the nerves—tones them up—makes them strong. Since the nerves control every function of the body, good coffee benefits all the organs of the body, gives you a strong mental grip, and helps make your success.

Seal Brand Coffee

is good coffee—it is rich in the nerve feeding element. A cup of Seal Brand Coffee is beneficial to health—it feeds the central nervous system—its rich, delicious, creamy taste and fragrant aroma make it a most delightful beverage.

Sealed in air-tight tins which closely retain its freshness. Retail at 35c the half pound.

We have several other brands of coffee that are as carefully selected, graded and put up as Seal Brand Coffee. At all a public grocers.
